Period after opening: the product must be used within the timeframe noted inside the jar symbol (in months) after it has been opened. Used in EU for cosmetic products with a shelf-life of at least 30 months.

Best before end: the product must be used before the marked date (regardless of when it has been open). (In EU) any cosmetic product that has a lifespan of less than 30 months must show a "Best before the end of" date.

The 'e' mark (Europe): Cosmetics must be labeled with their nominal net content. The 'e' mark is used in Europe to indicate a brand complies with average fill requirements. "Packaged goods labelled with the 'e' mark are declaring their compliance with the requirements of the 'average system' under Directive 76/211/EEC" (Gov.uk).

Recyclable: This symbol means that the packaging of the product can be recycled.

The Green Dot: Widely recognized in many European countries. "It signifies that for each piece of packaging, a financial contribution has been paid to a national packaging recovery organisation" (Valpak.co.uk)

Does FDA ask for expiration date on cosmetics?

Does FDA have rules for cosmetic shelf life and expiration dates on cosmetic labels?

There are no U.S. laws or regulations that require cosmetics to have specific shelf lives or have expiration dates on their labels. However, manufacturers are responsible for making sure their products are safe. FDA considers determining a product's shelf life to be part of the manufacturer's responsibility.

Not all "personal care products" are regulated as cosmetics. Some, such as sunscreen products and acne treatments, are drugs under the law. Some, such as makeup and moisturizers that are also sunscreens, with "SPF" labeling, are regulated as both cosmetics and drugs.

Drugs, including those that are both drugs and cosmetics, must be tested for stability (see the regulations at 21 CFR 311) and are required to have expiration dates printed on the

Technical document on cosmetic claims

Agreed by the Sub-Working Group on Claims

(version of 3 July 2017)

PLEASE NOTE: THIS TECHNICAL DOCUMENT WAS PREPARED BY THE SUB-WORKING GROUP ON CLAIMS AND THEN ENDORSED BY THE WORKING GROUP ON COSMETIC PRODUCTS. IT IS NOT A EUROPEAN COMMISSION DOCUMENT.

THIS DOCUMENT SHALL ONLY SERVE AS "TOOL" AND IS A COLLECTION OF BEST PRACTICE FOR THE CASE-BY-CASE APPLICATION OF UNION LEGISLATION BY THE MEMBER STATES. IT

Criterion	Description	Examples of claims (only illustrative and not exhaustive) and remarks
Legal compliance	Claims that indicate that the product has been authorised or approved by a competent authority within the Union should not be allowed since a cosmetic product is allowed on the Union market without any governmental approval. Equally, a CE-mark should not be applied on cosmetic products as this would make the consumer think that they are under a regulatory regime different from the Cosmetic Product	The claim 'this product complies with provisions of the EU cosmetics legislation' is not allowed since all products placed on the EU market must comply.

The acceptability of a claim should be based on the perception of the average end user of a cosmetic product, who is reasonably well-informed and reasonably observant and circumspect, taking into account social, cultural and linguistic factors in the market in question. Claims which convey the idea that a product has a specific benefit when this benefit is mere compliance with minimum legal requirements should not be allowed.	The claim 'skin care product does not contain hydroquinone' is not allowed, as hydroquinone is banned by EU cosmetics legislation for this use.

the product should not contain any ingredient that belongs to the group as defined in this Regulation. If it is claimed on the product that it does not contain a specific ingredient(s), the ingredient should not be present or released.	The claim 'free from Formaldehyde' is not allowed, if the product contains a formaldehyde releasing ingredient (e.g. Diazolidinyl Urea).
